

Caution! Beware of Fake Emails.

We have recently become aware that somebody is sending fake emails, pretending our company.

However we have nothing to do with such mails.

Under the present situation it is difficult to eliminate them completely though we are always considering security measures seriously.

If you have received such emails, please do not respond, but delete them from your computer.